PRESS RELEASE

September 2023

Successfully preparing for the European Heat Pump Summit

With all presentations scheduled and the Foyer Expo fully booked, the stage is set for the European Heat Pump Summit to become the No. 1 platform for high-calibre discussions and knowledge-sharing among international heat pump experts on 24 and 25 October 2023. Participants can start planning their visit now.

Acclaimed speakers and international experts from industry, commerce and the R&D community will travel from all around the world to attend the European Heat Pump Summit 2023 in Nuremberg. “To make the most effective use of their time on site and get the most out of their congress experience, participants should start preparing for their visit now by making initial arrangements,” recommends Elke Harreiss, Director European Heat Pump Summit at NürnbergMesse.

Put together your personal congress programme

Participants can look forward to a total of 39 interesting presentations on topical issues over the two days of the congress and can use our online event planner to keep track of the sessions. CONGRESS + EXPO NUREMBERG, 24–25.10.2023

Industrial | Commercial | Residential
Heating & Cooling | Components & Equipment

The presentations will be in English and cover the latest market developments, R&D results, and applications for heat pumps in the commercial and industrial segments.

Innovations and products at Foyer Expo

No less than 30 German and international exhibitors will make the accompanying Foyer Expo the ideal place to see how the topics explored in the presentations can be put into practice. Chat with specialists and other congress delegates and find out about new products and innovations from the key players in the heat pump market. To find out which exhibitors you can meet at the Foyer Expo, go to: www.hp-summit.de/en/all-exhibitors

Save the date: get-together on the first evening of the congress

An additional opportunity to network in a relaxed atmosphere is provided by the get-together on the first evening of the congress, starting at 18:10 in the “Mitte Entrance” area at Exhibition Centre Nuremberg. Keep that evening free by marking it in your calendar now. Entry to the get-together is included in your ticket. For more information about this event, go to:
