Passing the baton: Christopher Boss to become director of MedtecLIVE

MedtecLIVE, the trade fair for the entire medical technology supply chain, will be under new management from 2021, when Christopher Boss succeeds Alexander Stein, who has been responsible for MedtecLIVE since its launch and had previously directed MT-CONNECT. Stein is now moving to another role at NürnbergMesse. The two men will work in partnership to execute this year's virtual edition of MedtecLIVE from 30 June to 2 July 2020.

For just under five years now, Christopher Boss has been in charge of the leading international die casting trade fair EUROGUSS at NürnbergMesse. In his capacity as international product manager he has also been responsible for the EUROGUSS Family events in China, India, Mexico and Thailand. Boss has worked in the exhibition sector for around 15 years. "I am looking forward enormously to this new challenge and to the highly dynamic and innovation-driven medical technology sector, various aspects of which I am already familiar with through my work for EUROGUSS. In combination with the MedTech Summit Congress & Partnering, MedtecLIVE an outstanding networking event for the industry in Europe that facilitates partnerships and showcases the future of medical technology. My team and I intend to systematically pursue this effective concept!" During the virtual MedtecLIVE event from 30 June to 2 July 2020, Christopher Boss and outgoing director Alexander Stein will be available to answer questions from the medical technology community.
