MedtecLIVE with T4M - more than just a trade fair

Medical technology is an important part of healthcare and is also very complex. It requires a great deal of precision and constant development to adapt to living conditions, changes and innovations, as well as inventiveness to improve medical care. But progress doesn't work without exchange and knowledge gain: at MedtecLIVE with T4M, the European medical technology scene will come together in Stuttgart from May 3 to 5 to do just that - network, discuss and strengthen the industry. In addition to numerous exhibitors who will arrive with exciting products and projects, the trade fair will be accompanied by a unique supporting program along the entire value chain. Not only will current topics be discussed in sessions, but also what will determine the future of the industry will be explored in depth together.

The accompanying program of MedtecLIVE with T4M is supported by some of the most important associations in the industry: Medical Valley, Forum MedTech Pharma, Medical Mountains, ZVEI, Bitkom, VDE and BVMed. These focus separately on topics from the areas of Start-ups & Young Talents, Digitalization, Regulatory Affairs and Process & Production. It's not just about the end product: a special highlight of the event is a complete production line that shows the manufacture of a medical instrument from A-Z and makes each individual manufacturing step tangible. From prototyping to manufacturing to downstream processes, MedtecLIVE with T4M can not only be seen, but experienced with all the senses.

EIT Health and Biogen will award the neurotech prize at MedtecLIVE with T4M for innovations that address the challenges in the field of Alzheimer's disease. Up to 100,000 euros in prize money awaits the winning start-up.

It's time to work together to find solutions to challenges, develop innovative ideas and gather momentum to drive the industry forward. At MedtecLIVE with T4M, that is precisely the focus - the basis is dialog. With this goal in mind, the event brings plenty of added value for exhibitors and visitors alike.
