Former Anonymous and LulzSec member Jake Davis to hold special keynote at it-sa 365

- Jake Davis will give the special keynote at it-sa 365 on 8 October
- The former Anonymous and LulzSec activist shows how hackers think and act
- New dialogue platform launches on 6 October with numerous presentations and information from IT security vendors

The new dialogue platform it-sa 365 will go online on 6 October as a year-round information and dialogue platform for the IT security sector and IT security experts. The special keynote, which in recent years has become a genuine crowd-puller at the it-sa Expo & Congress in Nuremberg, will therefore be held virtually this year as the highlight of the it-sa 365 Launch Days. The keynote speaker is former Anonymous and LulzSec member Jake Davis.

On Thursday 8 October, from 12:00 to 13:00, Jake Davis will show us what makes hackers tick. In his special keynote “The Future of Hacking”, he will look back on his experiences in the hacker collective Anonymous and point out the dangers inherent in trends like TikTok that will change the hacking of the future.

Specialist in hacker culture

Jake Davis can look back on an eventful past as a hacking activist and member of the hacker collectives LulzSec and Anonymous. Today, Davis is a consultant, author and speaker on IT security issues and a much sought-after expert in this field. As an expert on hacker culture, he is interested in raising awareness and disseminating knowledge about important cyber-security issues. In this role,

Extensive programme for participants

The it-sa 365 platform offers a wide-ranging programme to facilitate professional discussions and networking opportunities for IT security experts. It features numerous virtual presentations by vendors, product-neutral discussion panels under the banner "it-sa insights", industry news and more detailed information, e.g., in the form of white papers. As a result, it-sa 365 complements the it-sa Expo & Congress by providing a dialogue platform that brings IT security providers and users together all year round. Free (advance) registration will open a few days prior to the Launch Days at: itsa365.de.
