Comments on the IWA OutdoorClassics 2024

Bernhard Knöbel, Managing Director Carl Walther GmbH: IWA OutdoorClassics plays a key role in the success of our industry. For over 50 years, it has been the most important place for our international trade. Once again this year, we were delighted to welcome numerous international retailers to our stand – it was a particularly successful trade fair for us.

Dirk Prehn, Managing Director RWS GmbH: A word is a word, a handshake is a handshake. IWA OutdoorClassics is a center of exchange and vision. For RWS, the most important thing is to meet the international dealers and distributors and talk to them face to face, and you can only do that at this show. We are very happy about the last four days here at IWA OutdoorClassics 2024.

Graham Downing, president World Forum on Shooting Activities (WFSA): The IWA has two major advantages: the trade fair itself, but also the location. All the industry leaders come to Nuremberg and visit the IWA OutdoorClassics. As the WFSA, we can talk to the people who matter in the shooting sports industry at the IWA. The IWA is simply the best trade fair, the perfect meeting place on an international level.
