

OVERVIEW PROOF OF TRADE VISITOR STATUS

Acceptable documents	Employee ID card from a security authority	Confirmation from a security authority	Letter of reference from an exhibiting company
	Valid employee ID card from a security authority, together with an official photo ID.	Written confirmation from a security authority, which confirms their working relationship. (clearly showing the name and activity of the visitor)	This letter of reference must contain the following information: Full name of the invitee, activity in the company, business relationship with the exhibiting company, reasons for the need to attend Enforce Tac, if available, NCAGE-Code reference.
Who?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Police (including special forces) • Border protection authorities • Customs / customs investigation departments • Judiciary • Official information and security services • Armed forces / military 	Companies that are included in the procurement channels of official agencies or other state-level organisations.	Other companies related to the sector.
Comments	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Without written evidence of your trade visitor status you cannot attend the event. • Please do not come to Nuremberg unprepared! Just writing something down on a sheet of paper at the venue on the day is not possible! No exceptions will be made! • Persons under 18 years and private persons are not admitted. • A verbal confirmation of the trade visitor status is not sufficient! • Previous visits to the trade fair do not automatically entitle you to another visit. • Anyone gaining access to the event by providing incorrect information could be liable to prosecution for trespassing as per paragraph 123 of the German Penal Code, e.g. false statement about employment status • Your Enforce Tac Ticket also entitles you to a free visit to the U.T.SEC. For a small surcharge, your ticket is also valid for the IWA Outdoor Classics.

! Please note: Access to the Enforce Tac is only possible with an official photo ID (identity card).