#Re  Experience
Live

With all senses BIOFACH!

Nourishment for all the senses

At last, you can immerse yourself once again in the international organic community: live, up close, and in person. Build new networks and revive existing contacts while feeling safe even in these times of COVID, and benefit from our extra digital services. Find out about resilience and climate protection at the BIOFACH Congress. Learn about innovations, and see, touch, smell and taste a diverse range of organic foods. It's a feast for the senses, the likes of which we have been missing for so long.

BIOFACH 2022 is all this and more - including lots of happy moments!

Reasons to visit

Commerce with a heart and a conscience.

What's new in the organic sector? BIOFACH is the world's leading trade fair for the organic community and the international industry gathering for organic food. It's where you'll meet and interact with people who do business based on the core values of care: connection, responsibility, diversity. People who are totally committed to organic principles, with a thirst for knowledge and the resolve to work together to shape the future. Don't miss out!

Reasons to visit

Authentic values, from farm to fork

At BIOFACH, you'll meet people from across the entire value creation chain for organic food. In this context, value creation should be understood literally: from field to barn, and from food processing to the healthy food on your plate, the focus is on creating and preserving authentic values and enabling them to flourish in the future. And you'll find these values reflected in the vibrant product displays by exhibitors and at the accompanying congress.

Reasons to visit

Organic – of course!

At BIOFACH you'll discover a remarkably diverse range of organic foods. See, smell, touch and taste products from all around the world and discover new products for your own range. You can be confident that everything you see is organically certified and rigorously tested according to strict admission criteria and international standards.

Reasons to visit

A market full of possibilities

Since the Middle Ages, fairs have always been a combination of marketplace and festival. They are places of discovery and personal interaction, including those chance encounters that serve to broaden your own horizons. This is what is so great about live events! At BIOFACH you'll meet people from many countries, become part of the vast organic community, and discover new markets and opportunities.

Reasons to visit

The gift of nature that keeps on giving

BIOFACH and VIVANESS, the international trade fair for natural and organic personal care, are the perfect double act. At both exhibitions you'll experience just how closely nature, good food, health and beauty are interconnected. Explore the treasures of nature with all your senses and be part of the vast community that harnesses these treasures for our food and cosmetics.

Innovative trade fair concept combines the real and the virtual

At the heart of the action

When you finally experience the organic industry gathering live in Nuremberg again, you'll be able to make the most of new digital opportunities. Because the innovative trade fair concept combines the on-site experience with the benefits of the virtual environment. Are you unable to take part in all the interesting congress events at BIOFACH and VIVANESS? Would you quickly like an overview of the lavish offering? Or perhaps you'd like to make contacts ahead of the fair or afterwards? Our online tools make all this possible.

The real

At the heart of the action, in person and on-site: Experience products with all your senses, learn something new, enjoy the diverse supporting programme, get to know people from the international organic community, chat and network, broaden your own horizons, and be open to the kinds of chance encounters that are only possible live!

The virtual

Take part virtually, from home or when out and about: You'll quickly get an overview of the range on display, experience parts of the congress as a live stream or on demand, and network with other participants using our digital tools. The digital event platform makes it all happen!

Unique international diversity:

Fresh produce | Frozen products |
Dry products, cooking and baking |
Dry products, snacks and confectionery |
Dry products, beverages | Other dry product | Non-food | Technology and equipment | Raw ingredients and
additives | Media, service providers

ReExperienceLive

Live is even better!

A good conversation between industry colleagues, a profitable new business contact, a wealth of trends and inspiration for your business, and some genuine “wow” moments. You can only get all this at on-site trade fairs and congresses, where industries get to present themselves in all their diversity. We’re delighted to finally be able to welcome you again live in Nuremberg and to share with you the best parts of the trade fair experience.

BIOFACH Congress Theme 2022: Organic.Climate.Resilience.

Organic principles make agricultural and food production systems resilient and climate friendly. Organic farmers and eco food producers strengthen the foundations of life and at the same time work innovatively with nature. And they are making ecological principles the driving force behind resilient food production systems. This is exactly what the most comprehensive international organic congress will be focusing on, when the organic food and natural and organic cosmetics community gathers for the next round of the combined BIOFACH and VIVANESS trade fair from 26 - 29 Juli 2022. Over four days, on site and online, the organic sector will discuss a highly topical issue with important socio-political implications.

Know-how and learning

Initiative & NGOs Network Hub (Hall 9)

Spotlight on responsibility. At the network hub Initiatives & NGOs, you'll have the opportunity to discuss the latest hot topics such as: How do we use natural resources? What's the meaning of fair? How do we define regional? How important are animal welfare and biodiversity to us?

Bulk food store showcase (Hall 8)

Whether the focus is on plastic-free, zero-waste or reusable solutions, the unpackaged segment has been more than just a trend for quite some time now. Unverpackt e.V. has partnered with other exhibitors to create a special display area for this segment in Hall 8.

Fachhandelsclub (Hall 9) for specialist retailers

Discussions and exclusive networking among professionals: At the BIOFACH Fachhandelsclub, you'll meet other specialist retailers and discuss current issues with them.
